

Suggestion name for the precinct:	Why is this name was suggested as appropriate to the area.
Smokebush	The declared rare flora of the area
Lilwanwud	The land around the suburb area is dominated by small trees and shrubs. Lilwanwud means Littlewood. Using Kriol.
Pepetuan	Aboriginal for pepetown, pepe is symbolic of the locals in the area as they enjoy pepe, pepe is a special drink made from local plants.
Unnabila	Unna means True in the aboriginal language. Bilya or Beeliar means River in the noongar dialect.
Grove Gardens	The name speaks for itself
Forrestgate	This new suburb will bring amazing opportunities for the local community due to the upcoming train station. So in a way it's like a GATEway to new opportunities. It will also be like a gateway to the beautiful perth hills and the Forrest for tourists and the wider Perth public. Hence, FORRESTGATE is a very appropriate name for this precinct.
Highfield	The area includes the boundary of High wycombe and Forrestfield, Residents may dislike losing Territory to a new area, Hence keeping part of the names will maintain links to the history of the area.
Katadjen	Noongar word for foothill. Kata = hill, djen = foot. The area is at the base of the escarpment.
Forrest Combe	An acknowledgment of both Forrest(field) and (High Wy)Combe. A combe can refer either to a steep, narrow valley, or to a small valley or large hollow on the side of a hill; in any case, it is often understood simply to mean a small valley through which a watercourse does not run

Giaginye	Aboriginal word for welcome
Wyndance Creek	I believe its more of a spirtual connection rather than documental. As you move through the same the wind dances on the grass and leaves. It look as if you can watch the wind dance left right back and forth. Probably due to the microclimate i which he creek area provides.
Quendavale	Quenda is 'bandicoot' as it's Noongar name, local to the area of the suburb. It suits the area nicely by highlighting that.
Bina Hollow	I think any name chosen should reflect the geography or features of the land and surrounding area. Since Poison Gully isn't a very nice name, 'Something Hollow' seems appropriate given the definition of hollow is an 'elongated lowland between ranges of mountains, hills, or other uplands, often having a river or stream running along the bottom.'
Berkroe Gully	Combination of all roads the area is bound by
Bundalee	As this area will be apart of the City of Kalamunda which is know for bush and trees Bundalee means Among the trees in Aboriginal
Elouera	It pays homage to the indigenous people meaning "a pleasant place" and it gives the new area a positive name
Noongar	It's the aboriginal name in Western Australia we need to keep continuing the growth of the name so it won't die off
Mulgarup	In Nyoongar language, this means "place of thunder." This name could reference the sound of trains once the new station begins operation, but it could also refer to the idea of this new suburb "making a noise" - being a source of activity, action and excitement within the City of Kalamunda.

Eastliegh	Eastliegh is a lovely area in Britain, and I feel the name is rather matched to the "Eastly" winds; the foothills are famous for this. Also, it is linked the the East side of Perth.
Roeberkson Creek	The name was suggested on where it's location is and name of the streets and places it is near.
Corymbia	Not only do we already have the Corymbia festival in the area, but I believe it pays a wonderful tribute to the Marri trees us hills/foothills residents all know and love. As vegetation has had to be removed for the project to take place, I think it is all the more important to appreciate and pay tribute to our beautiful natural environment.
Warrabilya	This means 'bad river' in Noongar and references the name 'Poison Creek'. It sounds nice too.
Boorna-Wangkiny (Message Stick)	message sticks travel far and wide
Pertaringa	It's aboriginal meaning is belongs to the hills And I thought it sounded fitting
Acacia Park	Acacia is local flora to the area and appropriate for the shire
Foothills	It is located at the foot of our of beautiful hills with tranquility.
Stirk	I find it fitting because of the early settlers Frederick and Elizabeth Stirk.

Cockatoo Ridge	Three species of vulnerable or endangered black cockatoos call this area home, roosting in the large native trees.
Mason Grove	Benjamin Mason was an early developer of the area
Munday	Munday led the Beeloo people who lived in the area to be named.
Hillside	Close to the hills
Beeloo	Beeloo was the name given to the original group of Aboriginal people who lived in the area.
Grevillea	Native Flora currently found in the area prior to development
Currie	The First European owner of this land was Mark John Currie. The land was known as Swan Location 28 and stretched from just east of now Hawtin Road to the Swan River at Garvey Park, Redcliffe. Currie was the Surveyor who marked out the original Lots in the area and was granted the land in 1832 for a price of 1 Peppercorn to be paid on the 25th of March each year
Roeshire Gully	It incorporates the roads on the borders :)
Warren	Named after David Warren, the inventor of the black box. Relevant due to it's proximity to the airport. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/David_Warren_(inventor)

Poison Gully	local creek in the area
Bluebell Gully	Shiree Dunstall
Kooboolong	Kooboolong is the Noongar word for frog. The name is appropriate because it celebrates our local animals and our traditional owners. It also ties in with the name of Kalamunda because they are both Noongar words.
Wiggersdale	Because it is my nickname and we give back to this community through rotoract and my dad works in Forrestfield and my Mum in High Wycombe. My brother and sister both work in the shire. We just give back.
High Wycombe	Because the new train station is in High Wycombe. And naming the new area High Wycombe connects the whole area together
Wollong	'- Wollong is the/a documented Noongar name for the local plant 'The Running Postman' (Kennedia prostrata). I feel that it is important in this day and age for people to become more connected to their community through plants and animals because we as a society know little about what surrounds us. By choosing a local plant people can learn to identify it with themselves and their community. - Despite not being built to carry mail, the location of a new train line (and station) could tie in to the theme of speed by 'running' people around, and if you could persuade the department of transport to make the train line be signified by a scarlet red, it would also tie in to the plant's other given name (The Scarlet Runner).
Barragup	it's the Aboriginal name for Forrestfield
Forrestfield Central	It represents the fact that it's a central node. That it's in Forrestfield but clearly distinguishable from High Wycombe or Forrestfield. Like Grand Central it sounds like it's the place to be or the place to go. You want people to be drawn there and a name is important in telling people it's a destination not just another "suburb"

Creekside	In developing the precinct structure plan, the community requested that the area be natural and celebrate the local creeks and streams.
Quenda Park	Quenda or Bandicoot is indigenous to the area, an icon to many who live here by also under threat by development. Using Quenda Oaks as the name will bring familiarity and awareness to the community.
Koorliny	This is a Noongar word meaning "movement", as in "coming" or "going" or "travelling" (see https://www.noongarculture.org.au/glossary/noongar-word-list/). Naming the suburb Koorliny is a recognition of the original inhabitants and also acknowledges the area as a travel hub for the hills community as it is bordered by a major highway, grain railway, and the new Forrestfield Station.
Berkshire Park	A nod to Berkshire road and some of the lovely tucked away parks that Forrestfield has.
Gumnut Valley	The Kalamunda Shire's logo is of gumnuts. We have beautiful gumnut water features throughout the Shire of Kalamunda. Additionally, May Gibbs, the Author of the Gumnut Babies books, spent time in the Perth hills which no doubt helped inspire her ideas and illustrations for the Gumnut Babies book.
Magnifica	This name derives from the name of the 'Thelymitra magnifica' (Crystal Brook sun orchid) plant native to the Forrestfield region, according to a 2008 Flora and Vegetation report available at the following address: file:///Users/Shannon1/Downloads/Appendix-B-Flora-and-Vegetation-Survey-VDM-Environmental-December-2008.pdf Additionally, the etymology for 'magnifica' provides such terms as 'great', 'eminent', 'distinguished', or 'magnificent', as state by David Gledhill in his 2008 book, "The Names of Plants", published by Cambridge University Press.
HIGHFIELD	It's inbetween high wycombe and Forrestfield
Karlup	Noongar word for fireplace, home, hearth

Kaladinya or Kaladenia	Caladenia is a wildflower with over 100 species common to WA. Spelling it as Kaladenia will relate it to Kalamunda. Even if people haven't heard of Kaladenia, they can assume it might be near Kalamunda. Also changing the ending from -ia to -ya as with the beautiful sounding Kardinya will give it an Aboriginal look, and reduce the number of syllables from 5 to 4. (The -ia suffix is a universal ending for a geographic name as well as for flowers). the changed spelling will also make it easier to find in a Google search.
Jerrabinyan	According to this website Jerrabinyan was the local name for Lesmurdie Falls so it would be nice to honour this with the naming of this suburb even if it isn't quite in the precinct it is within the catchment area. https://friendsofupperlesmurdiefalls.org/history
Quenda / Quenda Park / Quenda Brook / Quendaton / Quenda Vale (you get the idea)	The City of Kalamunda are leaders in protecting and promoting education of the local quenda population with their signage around the city of Kalamunda roads. This area is full of Quenda which can live harmoniously with business/residents is there is enough care & education of them. It would be nice for the City of Kalamunda to recognise and be praised for promoting a local indigenous species. Quenda have also been recently found to be in existence only in the SW of Australia. They are distinct from the east coast Southern Brown Bandicoots and have not yet received any promotion as being a unique species but the City of Kalamunda could be leaders in doing so. This would be fabulous from an environmental viewpoint as well as having a positive tourist impact. Be the City that animal lovers want to travel to, to get that insta worthy photograph of our beautiful & unique flora & fauna
CONTINUA	CONTINUA is the plural of continuation. The new suburb is a continuation of the growth of the Shire in a number of ways..hence the plural. The train station is just one. Another is the TOD Connector
Smoke Bush	The rare native plant to the area.
Edney	The boarers name is grace and named after one of our little girls at edney primary school
Edgemarsh	It is a combination of Heath Ledger and Billy Marshall. Heath Ledger attended Mary's Mount Primary School in Gooseberry Hill. At the age of 10, he had first acting experiences, starring in a school production as Peter Pan in Guildford Grammar School and played hockey in Forrestfield. Forrestfield Speedway was started by Billy Marshall. The Forrestfield speedway brought people over Perth to Forrestfield.

Kedalup	Noongar for daytime
Amaroo (Beautiful Place)	Amaroo is Aboriginal for beautiful place and I'm sure it will be.
ALLAWAH	ALLAWAH - The name "Allawah" is Aboriginal in origin, from a local term meaning 'make your abode here' or 'remain here' or 'stay here, rest, sit down'
Tallowwood	There was alot of Tallowwood (Eucalyptus trees in area before development)
Cooyong/ Coojong	http://www.kalamunda.wa.gov.au/files/cbeb2f7b-badb-48a5-a902-a16900c1ba4d/Appendix-B-Flora-and-Vegetation-Survey-VDM-Environmental-December-2008.pdf
Abernethy	I think that's obvious
Jennakatta	Noongar name; means foothills.
Marlee	Marlee is Noongar for swan
Newburn	Newburn is the name of a locality that previously sat at and near this site a few decades ago and is a nod to the old toponomy of the area. It is also the name of a road in High Wycombe.

Darling	In reference to the darling range
Geer-Lyons Estate	Because of the accident that happened there back in the early 1900s
Newburn	Newburn Rd (now entirely in High Wycombe) formed the northern boundary of the suburb Newburn. This name has been lost through expansion of the Airport. It would be appropriate that Newburn Rd pointed towards a new, reborn Newburn.
Foothills central	I think the name is appropriate as the location is in the foothills.
Highfield	High Wycombe and Forrestfield
Corymbia	Already has a rich history in High Wycombe and Forrestfield with the Corymbia Festival, and is the name of the beautiful Marri trees!
Djena Bidee Rd	Djena is Noongar for foot and Bidee means path--- Djena Bidee= footpath
Andersonia	Andersonia are a protected Native plant in the Southwest region of Western Australia, they are a very beautiful plant with a beautiful name, i havent found any commemorate for them, and there is no other street with this name yet.
Caladenia	Flora found in the Kalamunda Shire

Hale	Named after Charles Hale, who local folklore says settled the area in 1902.
Berkshire	Because Berkshire Road will virtually run directly through the heart of a he suburb, being a vital link between the connection of the major road route of Row Hwy and the rail of the Forrestfield rail line.
Yongamara	The English name 'kangaroo paw' has been translated into Noongar as Yonga Marr wer that name is also used by Noongar for these plants. The English name of the plant was derived from the shape of the flowers, which resemble the paws ('mara' means 'hand') of a Yonga (Kangaroo).
FORRESTGULLY	Poison Gully Creek in Forrestfield is one of the boundaries.
Gastrolobium	"Gastrolobium"... the plant Gastrolobium oxyobioides that poisoned stock belonging to local settlers from this area... Significant number of the species accumulate monofluoroacetic acid (the key ingredient of the poison known commonly as 1080), which caused introduced/non native animal deaths from the 1840s in Western Australia.
Adnamira	I thought the name Adnamira may be a good choice because of the creek Poison gully running along side the area proposed, as it's a Aboriginal name meaning "flowing water".
Karlup	This is an aboriginl word. Fire place/hearth; meaning home/heart country. Some of my favourite names of perth places are aboriginal names. Having family from overseas, they love learning of these names and their meanings when visiting Perth. Having previously lived in the foothills one of my favourite memories is the smell of people using their fireplaces as well as burnoffs right before summer.
(The) Berkshires/ Berkshires	The Berkshires is significant to the area for three reasons. Firstly, the rolling landscapes and pockets of nature mirrors the Berkshires in other areas of the world, Massachusetts in particular linking a global community a sister region of the love of nesting in nature. Secondly the name Berkshires is signified already in a road name in the region in Forrestfield. Thirdly it adds a grandiosity to the region between nature and its people and all that offers protection from development without

	planning environmental maintenance and protection from the city. It is the perfect unity of nature preserving humans and humans preserving nature.
Karlup	Nyoongar for "home/heart country"
Darwinia	http://www.kalamunda.wa.gov.au/Waste-Environment/Managing-Our-Reserves/Flora-Fauna/Flora/Declared-Rare-Flora-DRF
Swainsona	The Swainsona is a beautiful native plant. Any new suburb name should reflect something beautiful in our state
Berkshire	Its the name of one of the prominent roads in the area
Caladenia	The Grand Spider orchids scientific name is 'Caladenia Huegelii' and is found in this area and is rare to come across.
Carnabup	One of the main endangered fauna of Kalamunda includes the carnaby black cockatoo. So including part of the name carnaby raises more awareness for these creatures while also giving the suburb a meaning behind it. The added up on the end is part of the Australian Aboriginal language and use to mean either a water place or meeting place. So with the name Carnabup we are including part of the first language that was ever in Australia, while also including a bird that is native to Kalamunda.
Hale Railway Parade	In 1902 Charles Hale had planted the trees and plants etc and then it was a railway later on. So thought it would be appropriate to name after him.
Karda Gully	Karda means 'hills' in the language of the Nyoongar people and gully ties with poison gully

Karluv - Fire place/hearth; meaning home/heart country.	Karluv & Moort Boodja (Heart – Country) Kalil/koolark in Noongar means home or heart-country. Ngany kurt ngany karla – our heart, our home.
Fern Gully	It sounds pleasant and reflects the flora in the area
Quenda or Quenda Grove	I grew up there and parents still live in Brae Rd. As a child, the bandicoots would visit us and we would feed them mandarins.
Balkana	Balka is a blackboy in Noonyar language
Koorden	It is the Noongar word for ‘Red Gum’ a eucalytus tree that is found in this area of the Perth bush known for its bright flowers.
Lv-426	I thought the name was funny and might suit the area.
Barooga	Barooga is an aboriginal name with meaning - My home. This is relevant and important for all residents in the area as they call it my home and feel home. This name exists in the list below with meaning - http://www.housenameheritage.com/hnh_wsc_aboriginal.asp
Windfield or wind valley	Forrestfield gets quite windy.
Dundas	The main road runs through the train station. Dundas name has to do with a community person who helped the local community including the scouts. I went to school with his daughter. Unfortunately he died too young while helping the community falling off the top of the bus while loading scout’s luggage on top. A generous man and family.

High Wycombe	It should be called High Wycombe because it is in High Wycombe. In the 1980 this area was Maida Vale and was changed to High Wycombe when the Roe Highway split Maida Vale in two.
Jerrabinyan	As the name is Aboriginal for Lesmurdie Falls and my parents first house was built on Falls after the Second World war and my Dad built it from scratch with no mortgage.
Poison Creek Flats	Local historical names used.
The Breeze	Open to go anywhere
High Wycombe Central	This name would be appropriate for the future development as the central part of High Wycombe
Carnaby	It is a tribute to the Carnaby Cockatoo - a distinctive, endangered cockatoo that is known to frequent the area. It is also a tribute to the late Ivan Carnaby, an important West Australian naturalist.
North Wycombe
Wattledale	Acacia trees and shrubs are common native species of plants in the area.
Possumdale	In the online Atlas of Living Australia the Honey Possum, Brushtail Possum and the Pygmy Possum are all found in Kalamunda National Park.

COOINDA	I love the Shire of Kalamunda area having now lived here for 18 years. The name COOINDA means "happy place"
Ellis	I propose that the new suburb be named 'Ellis' after the early Kalamunda settler Charles Ellis, who settled and worked in Kalamunda before 1900. Charles Ellis' work as a butcher and baker means he was involved in serving others in the community, making use of the land to build up the community - which is precisely what is being developed in the 'Forrestfield North' area. Land which has been set aside and overlooked is now being brought to life, for the good of the whole community. This land will be developed and improved, creating jobs and dwellings in the local area. Charles Ellis also started a motor garage and taxi business in Kalamunda in 1924. This shows he was supporting and making the most of advances in technology. Mr Ellis came from the past, and moved into the future by developing his skills and infrastructure. This is currently happening in the Forrestfield North area, which will benefit from advances in new technology (the underground train line), and will create jobs and new opportunities for those who adapt their skills to new technology. Just as Charles Ellis adapted to the motor industry, and did not oppose developments in the region, we should see the positive impact and benefits that will flow from the new train line and land use changes. If the developments will disrupt something in my life, then I should use it as a positive motivator, to move on in life and learn new skills. Charles Ellis was named a justice of the peace in 1936, (as shown in the Government Gazette W.A. on 20th April 1956), meaning he went on to be a responsible member of the community. It is worthy of an early settler who improved and developed the region to have this suburb named after him. The name has English origins, which reflects the early settlers homeland, and suits the surrounding suburbs of Maida Vale, and High Wycombe. Ellis' cottage was built by Charles and Annie Ellis and Charles Ellis commenced his business as a butcher from this premises. The couple had two children, also called Charles and Annie and his son, Charles jnr, joined him in the trade. The business operated from this premises for many years and the family also operated a bakery from the shop next door. The cottage was owned by the family until 1964 and was relocated from its location in Central Road in 1993. It is now in the History Village in Kalamunda. The place has historic value as an example of a simple residence which operated also as a commercial building built at the turn of century. The place as social value as part of the collection of buildings within the History village precinct which was created with community support and demonstrates the value the community places on the history of the town.

	See http://www.kalamunda.wa.gov.au/Leisure-Tourism/Sports-Fitness/Walking-Cycling/Walking-Trails/Kalamunda-Town-Heritage-Trail
Keilwell	'-The Keil's have roots in the land of that area - it has a small association of water (poison gully) -keil translated from German means wedge, the suburbs is the wedge between the new station, residential and industrial area
Angiozanthusis	This is the genus name of the red and green kangaroo paw which used to be ubiquitous in this area and in some places can still be found in abundance. The red and green colour is the colour of several school uniforms within the Kalamunda area.
Grand Vale	It contains a positive connotation in the word Grand and fits well with close suburbs like Maida Vale and High Wycombe
Karak Cala / Cala Karak / Karak (one of them or something similar)	"Karak" being the South West Aboriginal word for "black cockatoo", or "red-tailed cockatoo", or "black feather" (from my research) & "Cala" being the word for "home" as we all know from the word "Kalamunda". The area is known to host both Carnaby's and Red-Tailed Black Cockatoos. The area (from vegetation surveys) is well known to contain tree species used for foraging and roosting for these cockatoos (Marri, Banksia etc). Both the White and Red-Tailed Black Cockatoos are protected on federal and state registers and listed as 'Endangered' and 'Vulnerable' respectively. This name gives due regard to the values of the Kalamunda people, being a respect for aboriginal heritage and culture and respect for the environment. Also the name is similar, but not too similar to Kalamunda! We need to uphold to values into the future. See document here: https://ro.ecu.edu.au/cgi/viewcontent.cgi?referer=https://www.google.com.au/&httpsredir=1&article=7885&context=ecuworks
Quenda Cove	Due to the native fauna species of quenda, that are abundant in the area.

FORRESTGATE	It's the gateway to the John Forrest national park.
ROEBERKSON	The name is taken from the precincts of: Roe Hwy Berkshire Rd Poison Gully Creek
Quenda	It is a native animal found in the Kalamunda Shire.
Parkhill	In that area ther is a lots Parks and beautiful hills
Woodlupine	Named after a creek to the South that runs through the Forrestfield area. The creeks inflow is from the Mundy Park region.
Magpie grove	Because there are lots of magpies in the area
Caladenea	Caladenea is the botanical name for the native cowship orchid which grows in this area and throughout Kalamunda as well.
Newway	New way to airport,new divers

Munday	The general area to the east of the Perth Airport is known by the Whadjuk people as Munday Swamp. Munday swamp is an extremely important Aboriginal cultural heritage place. Whadjuk people used this place for camping, hunting and ceremony. You can see numerous sites recorded here (see attached map) including archaeological sites where artefacts have been found. The Mundy Regional Park has been named for similar reasons https://parks.dpaw.wa.gov.au/park/mundy
Darlmoorluk	Darlmoorluk is the Noongar name for the Twenty-Eight parrot (the Australian Ringneck subspecies Barnardius zonarius semitorquatus). This particularly subspecies is native to the south-west of Western Australia and is a frequent and joyous sight in Perth's eastern suburbs along the hills (including the area of the new suburb). In the Noongar culture, the darlmoorluk is said to be the protector of camps, which makes it a very apt name for a new community.
Junction	Having grown up (Age 2 to current - now 38) in Forrestfield/High Wycombe i have a strong affinity with the local area. Often asked by interstate work colleagues or even people unfamiliar with Perth's eastern suburbs - so where is High Wycombe? For simplicity I often just said out near the airports - but in all reality the area is so much more! It has served as the 'junction' for the east/west rail network for decades. People pass thru our suburbs to get to the Great Eastern Hwy junction when headed east and similarly to the Great Northern Hwy - and noting Roe Hwy now serves as a junction to head south and more importantly to the Wharf/Ports. It of course also serves as a 'junction' to our airports. Added to this is the exciting development of our new (local train) Station which will provide a another junction in and around WA via the rail network
1) High Grove 2) Barton 3) Dawson	1) Area between High Wycombe and orange grove 2) After the first prime minister of Australia 3) After Dawson's Nursey, which is a local business that has been in our area for over 50 years
Yagan	Yagan was a leader of his people. He fought for what he considered right in this area. He travelled from upper swan to as far as south as Dwellingup and used the Bibbulmun track. The word Yagan is easy to say and write
Beeloo	In recognition of the people from the Nyungar group that lived in this area prior to white settlement
Timberland	The area was originally forest so timber is suitable but different.

Quenda Gully	Many Quendas (aboriginal name for bandicoots) live in the area and it is close to poison gully creek.
High Wycombe	This particular area has been part of the suburb of High Wycombe officially since about 1978. The boundaries were set then with the idea that one day it would be fully developed as a sizable locality. To continue the current development under that well known name is better than such a small area under a separate new name that will take years for anybody from elsewhere to recognize and know where it is.
Munday	It is significant to the area having Munday Swamp as a sacred Aboriginal site which seems appropriate for the name of the locality
NEWBURN	The location is historic and dates back to when Captain Stirling first rowed up the Swan River. Redcliffe was named and Newburn was on the eastern boundry where the station is now under construction.
HIGH WYCOMBE	THIS HAS BEEN THE NAME OF THE AREA FOR OVER 40 YEARS, THERE IS NO GOOD REASON TO CHANGE IT
Coojong	It is the name of a native Australian shrub wattle. The name Coojong is from the Nyungar language, which is still used today.
Carnaby	this area is one of the habitats of the endangered Carnaby's black cockatoo, named in honour of west Australian naturalist ivan carnaby in the mid 1900s
smokebush	rare and vulnerable flora
yeltukka	aboriginal word for new place
